

January 02, 2008

Duane Street Hotel opens in Tribeca; rooms from $189

The Duane Street Hotel is now open in Tribeca and taking reservations.

The hotel website has rooms for tonight as low as $189.

NewYorkology called the front desk this afternoon and was told the hotel opened four days ago. However the restaurant isn't yet open for business.

The website touts loft-like windows, hardwood floors, and a number of other amenities:

Room amenities include a work desk; high-speed and WiFi Internet access, CD/stereo/clock radio with MP3 hookup, DVD player, plasma television with premium cable channels, iron/ironing board, 17-inch laptop safe, makeup mirror, bathrobes, hairdryer, cordless telephone with two lines and voicemail, and Natural Product toiletries from London. Guest beds all feature a state-of-the-art pillow-top mattress with a washable hygienic liner, as well as 100% cotton linens imported from Europe and a luxurious duvet.

The 45-room Duane Street Hotel is located at 130 Duane St., map.

Update: New York magazine's Grub Street blog reports that the hotel's restaurant, 'beca, "will be closed for at least the next couple of weeks."

Earlier: Tribeca's Duane Street Hotel nears opening date

January 2, 2008 01:39 PM in Downtown, Hotelology